My Mother's Day Speech

Good afternoon everyone. My name is John.

Today, I'd like to talk about Mother's Day and what makes my mom special.

Mother's Day first began in the U.S. in 1872. Thanks to the work of Anna Jarvis, Mother's Day became a national holiday in 1914. This year is the 100th anniversary of the holiday.

In America, children celebrate Mother's Day by making breakfast for their mom and giving her a gift to show how special she is to them.

My mom is special to me because she loves me, listens to me when I need to talk, and always knows how to cheer me up. Everything she does makes her special to me.

In conclusion, Mother's day has a long history. Children celebrate the hard work their mom does all year and show why she is special. My Mom is special to me because she is caring, supportive, and loving.

Thank you for listening. Do you have any questions?
