

Being a good friend is being a brother or a sister

Being a good friend is being a brother or a sister

It is being there in the good times but also giving support in the bad ones.
It is trusting one another with all of our hearts
It is not betraying one's trust
It is being patient
It is being tolerant about the differences
It is being a good listener.

A true friendship, no matter how many years go by or how far away people are from each other, always survives.

Mariana Teixeira from Portugal