

Knowledge

One day I asked myself ...
Where's the know?
I answered myself
This response that few know
Often, get well soon
Other times they took days to understand
But I know that the error brings knowledge
And they have learned to live
A life is like a boat
That follows its path almost non-stop!
When you stop to fill your luggage
Of knowledge for the life you lead
English is one of them
For some very complicated to understand
For others, easy to handle
For me and for you is the same love

Patricia from Access Brazil