

Fallen fallen completely for you..
I didn't know I would,
But you showed me I could....
My feelings for you when you are around and near,
Are so unexplainable my dear..
Feels like butterflies full of colours in my tummy and face painted pinkish hue,
That immediately drains to hide it from you...
With that smile of yours I must say,
You brighten up my day....
Stepping out in the daylight my eyes are for you in quest,
When in bed these eyes dream of you and rest...
It was just wonderful to hear you call my name,
Looking forward for the day when again you call me the same....
This feeling of love I never before felt,
And now in your arms I wish to melt...
You and me getting together is just not possible,
Which I failed to realize before falling into this puddle...
Hence, decided to just gape and dream of you,
Coz I've completely completely fallen for you...
